How Cookies Work

TCEB uses cookies to record your visits and sign-ups to the website, making it easier for TCEB to remember how you used of the website. This information is then used to improve the website to better meet your requirements, to facilitate the speed of using the website, and to diagnose any problems with TCEB's servers in the management of the website. In some cases, TCEB may require third-party assistance to do so, which may require the use of internet protocol addresses (IP addresses) and statistical analysis cookies, data links, and processing for marketing purposes.

Cookies used by TCEB can be divided into two categories, namely:

1. Session Cookies are cookies that operate temporarily while you are visiting the TCEB website. For example, session cookies, may monitor and choose the language that is set etc., will be deleted from your computer/device as soon as you leave the website or close the web browser.

2. Persistent Cookies are cookies that will remain for a specified period of time or until you delete them. These cookies help the TCEB website remember you and your settings when you return to use the website again. These cookies help you access the website's services more conveniently and quickly.
